Notes for Christian Bogenschneider:

Christian Bogenschneider

Died 86 years old in 1796 (born 1710). Taught at the school at Protzen from 1757-1768 by himself, and with Friedrich Schroeder from 1768 until his death in 1796. Christian was a loyal servant to the local estate lord. He was very mechanical in his teaching, and constantly drilled the students in their lessons. By 1768, his handwriting had become illegible because of trembling hands and he was given an assistant, Friedrich Schroeder. Schroeder was a drunk, a gossip, and a troublemaker in the community. When Christian died in 1796, it was a sad day in the school. Schroeder died in 1801. Schulchronik Protzen (<http://www.gutshaus-protzen.de/SchuleProtzen.htm>)
